Dear Prof. Libby:

I have been making a little study of Skowhegan newspapers and know that you did editorial work for a time. I wonder if you can tell me just when. You know the paper was the Somerset Reporter until 1909. During the last years Mr. McNeelie conducted it, and I wonder if during that time you did editorial work. The statement was made when the Independent-Reporter started its career in the fall of 1909 that you were engaged for its editor. I am wondering how long you continued and if you did editorial work for it when you were living in Waterville. If you can tell me about what period you acted as editor and whether it was when you were living here or after you went to Waterville I would be much obliged.

I received your programs for the speaking contest. I would have been glad to go but couldn't. Perhaps some year I can. I think you have usually sent me a memorandum of my indebtedness for this, but you didn't this year and I don't think you did last, so I am wondering if I am not in debt to the College and for how much.

Very truly yours,

Louise H. Coburn
