Michael Schnurr graduated from Colby in 2004 with a major in East Asian Studies (Chinese concentration) and a minor in Economics. After graduating from Colby, Michael travelled and worked in China before attending Georgetown University Law Center where he earned a J.D. degree in 2009. Michael currently works as an attorney in New York City where he has been able to use his Chinese language skills to counsel publicly listed Chinese companies on their compliance requirements under U.S. securities laws and regulations.

Jessica Ka Yee Chan graduated from Colby as a Davis UWC scholar and a double major in East Asian Studies (Japanese Concentration) and Russian Language and Culture in 2006. Her favorite course from the EAS is "Hell on Earth". Currently Jessica is Assistant Professor of Chinese Studies at the University of Richmond. She is working on a book manuscript titled Propaganda and Pleasure: Chinese Revolutionary Cinema 1949-1966. She has published "Translating 'Montage': The Discreet Attractions of Soviet Montage for Chinese Revolutionary Cinema " in the Journal of Chinese Cinemas and translations of Chinese critical writings on opera films after 1949 in The Opera Quarterly.
