   Comments:
   This was one of the most difficult classes I have ever taken.

3. The workload and pace of this course seemed appropriate.
   Agree
   Comments:
   There were times where the work was overwhelming, such as when there were multiple reading assignments and a problem set due in one week.

5. The instructor's communication skills (for example, presentation of material, facilitation of discussion, and clarity of expectations) were effective.
   Neither agree nor disagree
   Comments:
   Personally I struggled to understand the material because it was taught as theorem based and there were very limited examples that made sense during class. I became lost very quickly in the class.

6. The instructor was open to questions and willing to help outside of class time.

Comments:
this class was mostly theorem based but I think I could've gotten more out of a more example based linear class. I am not a math major so it was harder for me to get a grasp on the concepts when they are just presented as theorems and proofs. This class format also often made it hard to do the homework and prepare for tests.

This class was very different than any math class I had ever taken before in that it was very focused on concepts rather than applications. I did not like that. I understand that in Scott’s 274 class, proofs and Theorems should be a focus, but in Linear Algebra I was expecting to learn how to solve problems. Instead, we focused on understanding why things are true. This was not helpful for me because when it came to doing the homework, I had no idea what to do because we hadn't learned it.

I really liked how Scott balanced the theoretical side of linear algebra with its many applications. However, the course felt like too much work because I felt the homework was not proportional to my learning.

2. I found this course challenging and intellectually stimulating, and I learned a considerable amount.

   Comments:
   This was definitely challenging and stimulating. It took a lot of work and revising to get to the point where I had a good grasp of the material but I can say that I learnt a considerable amount this semester.

3. The workload and pace of this course seemed appropriate.
   Neither agree nor disagree
   Comments:
   There was a lot of stuff crammed into this semester. The homework assignments were long and did require a lot of work but ultimately I can say that they were helpful in gaining an understanding of the material. Some weeks we had homework, reading assignments and quizzes and although the reading assignments were short and the quizzes provide a need for revision it was just too much. It puts a lot of stress on students even if we can complete it all.

4. Instructor's organizational skills (including planning, preparation, and productive use of class time) were effective.
   Strongly agree
   Comments:
   The class time was used in a constructive many to outline major theorems and ideas and them go into specific examples. I liked this format of the class.

   Comments:
   I think that Professor Taylor was clear about his expectations on exams, homework and in the course in general. The presentation of the material was clear and questions were always addressed.

6. The instructor was open to questions and willing to help outside of class time.

   Comments:
   Professor Taylor’s office were very helpful and he was even willing to help students whenever he was in the building. It was really good to have a professor be so accessible like that.

Course load in terms of homework and assignments is heavy. I feel like this may have troubled many students as they tried to complete the assignments. Perhaps consider reducing the amount of assignments or structure them in a different manner.

1. I was involved in this course (for example, I attended class regularly, I worked hard, and I participated in class discussions and activities).
Neither agree nor disagree

Comments:
I struggled to be a part of classes in the middle of the semester because I had a hard time balancing this course with my others. After gaining my ground, I was able to follow lectures better. I think that I was not originally expecting the work required to keep up in this course. Simply attending class everyday was not even enough to follow the book.

2. I found this course challenging and intellectually stimulating, and I learned a considerable amount.
Agree

Comments:
I learned a lot about a new type of thinking in mathematics. It was challenging to me because my problem-solving background was not ready for this class as it began to get more difficult, and the work to simply keep up was consistently the 1st or 2nd hardest task of every week.

3. The workload and pace of this course seemed appropriate.
Neither agree nor disagree

Comments:
I agree that the weekly work assigned was meant to cover all of the math that we were studying, but it was long and many of the opportunities for me to receive help were taken away by other courses and athletic practices. From my perspective I think the work load could have been more more appropriate to the course if we had shorter assignments on material covered in class. This would also give students a bigger reason to practice linear algebra everyday.

4. Instructor's organizational skills (including planning, preparation, and productive use of class time) were effective.
Agree

Comments:
Lectures were clear and well organized, but for the middle part of the semester, I had a hard time keeping up just because I hadn"t been able to follow the material on my own.

5. The instructor's communication skills (for example, presentation of material, facilitation of discussion, and clarity of expectations) were effective.
Neither agree nor disagree

Comments:
He was generally swift in email responses, but towards the end of the semester, reading assignments were not getting posted and so I had a hard time gauging my progress without having to talk to other students.

6. The instructor was open to questions and willing to help outside of class time.
Neither agree nor disagree

Comments:
I had a class and a lab block during his weekly office hours, so the only time I could walk into his office was 30 minutes before class on wednesday. When I had questions or wanted to make an appointment, he was easier to see.

7. The instructor's assessment of student work was prompt, consistent, useful, and substantive.

   Agree

   Comments:
   He was on top of written work consistently.

8. Overall, the instructor's teaching in this course was effective.

   Agree

   Comments:
   Regardless of the slump that I fell into during the middle of the semester, I was able to leave lecture today and feel confident that I could explain a substantial amount of the linear algebra we encountered this semester.

   At some points it felt as if the instructor thought the work from this class was the only work that we had to do.

   I think that the work that was assigned was beneficial, but especially in the beginning of the course, it was repetitive and tedious. However, several students mentioned this to Scott during his midcourse evaluation and he adjusted his problem set length and content resulting in an ideal workload. It was very nice to seem him respond to his students' opinions and comments in such a positive way. I think it enhanced the course significantly while maintaining the important outside-of-class aspect also.

Sometimes the workload was so much, I couldn't dedicate the time needed for each problem instead I had to rush to put something down for each problem

The TAs work was really unhelpful in grading. Never left any comments and sometimes seemed to randomly take points.

   Scott made it very clear what was going to be on the exams and how we should study for them. Because of this, I believe that I learned more because I was effectively studying for the exams instead of just cramming all of the information as a jumble.

   At times, the constant number of weekly assignments in addition to quizzes set during midterms week when students were writing essays and taking exams for other classes in addition to Linear, seemed overwhelming and unnecessary.

I especially enjoyed the end of semester projects that we were assigned. It gave us a chance to experience the concepts of linear algebra being applied in the real world and taught us to present on mathematical subjects, a skill that I believe many of us did not have experience with previously. I would recommend integrating more projects (group or individual) into the coursework to replace some of the weekly assignments that at times were quite mundane. I also really appreciated Prof. Taylor taking the time outside of class to help us learn material that we were having trouble grasping.
